University of Louisiana at Lafayette Alma Mater

Alma Mater, beloved old Southwestern,
Pride of our Southland so fair!
Oaks and pines and sweet magnolia's beauty,
Show forth thy charms so rare.
Alma Mater, for honor, truth and wisdom
Thy halls for aye shall stand,
Loyal sons and daughters sing
Proclaiming here's my heart and hand.

About the University of Louisiana at Lafayette Honors Convocation and Academic Excellence

History. The first Annual Honors Convocation was held at 10 a.m. on March 16, 1955, to honor 176 students achieving high scholastic records. The guest speaker was Dr. Ernest Colman Coldwell, Vice-President and Dean of the Faculties of Emory University and former President of the University of Chicago.

The Nature of the Academic Procession. One of the more colorful features of this convocation, the academic procession is comprised of distinguished members of faculty in full academic regalia. In order of the march is as follows President, Guest Performers, Vice-Presidents, Retired Deans, Deans, Directors.

Qualifications. Undergraduates in good standing in their sophomore, junior, or senior year who have a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.5 are eligible for the Honors Convocation. Graduate students in Category I include all currently enrolled degree students in regular status who have completed between nine and twenty-three graduate hours and who have a cumulative grade-point average of at least 4.0. Graduate students in Category II include all currently enrolled degree students in regular status who have completed at least twenty-four hours of graduate credit with a cumulative grade-point average of at least 4.0. Graduate students in both categories may be honored only once in each category during the course of their particular degree program. The Reading of Student Names. All eligible students who have responded to the Honors Convocation invitation by the deadline will have their names read this evening.

Special Thanks. The University wishes to thank members of the Honors Convocation and Academic Excellence Awards Committee as well as student, staff and faculty volunteers for their assistance tonight.

Academic Dress and Heraldry

The academic dress worn by the faculty and administration in the procession today has its origin in the medieval European universities. There the instructors were priests and members of religious orders. Those studying were clerks in holy orders, or monks, and some were priests. In the unheated buildings they wore cloaks or habits with a cowl or hood that could be pulled up when needed to cover the head.

The universities at Oxford and Cambridge in England are the most direct source of our academic costume. Today after over 600 years the most colorful gowns in the world are worn at Oxford University functions. There is a great diversity in the European academic dress; Cambridge itself has more than thirty different styles. Early American universities adopted similar dress, but before long there developed a dizzying array of costume which did not always reflect the academic degree or the source of the degree. In 1894 a commission of American educators met at Columbia College with the leading supplier of academic robes. The result was a code which was eventually accepted by almost all universities and colleges in the United States. The code was modified slightly in 1932 and has remained in place until today.

The holder of a Bachelor's degree wears a black, closed gown with a semi-stiff yoke, a pleated front, and pointed sleeve. The Master's gown is similar but worn open with the forearm protruding through an opening in the long sleeve. The Doctor's gown, also worn open, is more formal with velvet panels around the neck and down the front edges. Three horizontal velvet bars are on an upper arm of a squared sleeve. The velvet is usually black, but may have the color of the faculty to which the degree refers. The mortarboard is the usual headwear.

The most outstanding feature of the costume is the hood, a stylish remnant of the monkish head covering. The colors of the lining inside the hood, folded to be exposed in the back, are the official colors and pattern of the university from which the individual received his or her degree. For those who have received a degree from UL Lafayette for example, the hood is lined in vermilion red with a white chevron. The Bachelor's hood, which is seldom worn, is three feet long, the Master's, three and one-half, and the Doctor's four feet.

The color of the velvet border on the hood indicates the faculty of the individual's degree. The Ph.D. or Doctor of Philosophy degree is given by many disciplines, so a blue border is common. Some of the faculties are

Agriculture – maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities - white
Economics - copper
Education – light blue

Engineering - orange
Fine Arts, Architecture - brown
Law - purple
Medicine - green

Music – pink
Nursing - apricot
Philosophy - blue
Science – yellow

You will see that the colors worn by the members of the academic procession at UL Lafayette are of many universities in the United States and like the people of Acadiana, spiced with those from universities around the world.

Eminent Faculty Awards

Together with the University, the UL Lafayette Foundation annually honors outstanding faculty members for their commitment to and effectiveness in research, teaching, and service-learning outreach.

The Eminent Faculty Awards is a tradition of recognizing excellence. The Eminent Faculty program serves as the highest-level University recognition program honoring five faculty members for their outstanding efforts in teaching, research, and service-learning outreach.

The first Distinguished Professor Award was established in 1965 to recognize faculty members who excel in research, scholarship, or creative works, and who demonstrate a commitment to and effectiveness in teaching and make significant contributions to campus life and the community.

In 1992, the Distinguished Professor Awards program was expanded to incorporate the Ray P. Authement Excellence in Teaching Award honoring faculty members for their dedication to the profession and student learning. Instructional innovation, student performance in graduate or professional careers, and publications relating to pedagogy in their discipline are determining factors in the selection of these award recipients.

Exceptional service-learning outreach among faculty created a need for further program expansion and the Leadership Service Award was added in 2016 to recognize faculty members showing commitment and effectiveness to service learning. Combining service and classroom instruction, notable faculty integrate service learning as a key component of higher education providing students with skills and knowledge to become effective citizens and community leaders.

The name Distinguished Professor Awards was changed to Eminent Faculty Awards in 2015, encompassing the Distinguished Professor Award, Ray P. Authement Excellence in Teaching Award, and Leadership Service Award. UL Lafayette faculty are now recognized for each of their primary roles as educators research, teaching, and service-learning outreach.

2024 Recognition of Faculty of Excellence

Faculty throughout the University receive recognition for their exceptional accomplishments through various venues at the college, University, and professional levels. Tonight, three faculty members from each college are being recognized for their excellence. These faculty representatives have already received college-level awards or recognition during the 2022-23 academic year and they serve as representatives of excellence in the areas of scholarship/creativity, teaching, service, and/or other criteria identified within the college.

Undergraduate Faculty Advisor Awardees

Advising plays a critical role in students' performance, progress, and engagement, while also supporting the University's retention and graduation efforts. The Outstanding Faculty Advisor Awards are intended to recognize those with exemplary advising practices, demonstrating their commitment to student success and fostering the academic and career goals of their advisees. The awards annually recognize five faculty advisors who demonstrate their commitment to quality student development and engagement through advising.

Student Excellence Awards

Graduate Student Teaching Awards

2024 Graduate Student Teaching Excellence Award

Over the course of their graduate career, many graduate students are required to take on teaching responsibilities. These graduate teaching assistants contribute much to our University teaching mission. The Graduate Student Teaching Excellence is designed to recognize and reward a graduate teaching assistant (GTA) who has served as an instructor of record for outstanding teaching and effective instruction.

2024 Outstanding Graduate Teaching Assistant Award

Graduate teaching assistants play a vital role in fulfilling the undergraduate teaching mission of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. This award recognizes the best, brightest and most industrious of our graduate teaching assistants for their work supporting faculty members in the classroom.

Tasnima Supty

M.S. student in Biology
Department of Biology, Ray P. Authement College of Sciences

2024 Rising Scholars

This award recognizes an undergraduate student who demonstrates excellence in their discipline and clearly shows potential to rise to scholarly recognition. This undergraduate student has garnered the attention of faculty and administration as an emerging student on the path as a student scholar who will impact the larger research/academic/professional community.

This rising scholar may be one who demonstrates leadership and fellowship, critical thinking and problem solving, innovation and creativity. One who is resilient and maintains grit, and who possesses the necessary knowledge, skills, and disposition to excel in their chosen field.

To be eligible, the student must meet the following criteria: be in their sophomore or junior year (during the 2023-24 academic year), have 30 or more hours remaining for degree completion (at the end of the Spring 2024 semester), or have a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.5.

Leaf Awards 2024

The Leaf Award celebrates students who have achieved excellence while completing a Student Research Experience (SRE) or disseminating information about a SRE they have worked on. The Advance Student Research Experience (ASRE) Program at UL Lafayette defines a SRE as a sustained effort by a student to apply subject knowledge, skills, and abilities to a project that is valued by the discipline. The Student Center for Research, Creativity, and Scholarship (SCRCS) houses the ASRE program, which supports the increase of undergraduate students' productivity and success through engagement in research, innovative projects, and creative endeavors.

The academic endeavors of the students who receive the Leaf Award challenge and inspire the faculty and illuminate the possibilities for the future to the staff and administration. They grow and develop into amazing professionals, and they participate in the continuous building of a strong, elegant institution, that is UL Lafayette.

The Provost Awards

This award is for work that is interdisciplinary or work that displays excellence across other award categories. This award also honors students who have completed exceptional research or creative/scholarly works despite challenging circumstances.
