A large, vibrant collage of various activities at the University of Louisiana at Monroe. The collage is composed of numerous small images showing students in different settings: classrooms, laboratories, sports fields, and social gatherings. A large, white, stylized logo, resembling a flame or a flower, is superimposed over the center of the collage. The logo has a central vertical stem with several curved, petal-like or flame-like shapes extending outwards. The background images include students working on computers, playing basketball, walking on a campus path, and participating in various academic and extracurricular activities. The overall tone is positive and energetic, showcasing the diverse experiences available at the university.
