Alma Mater

*Alma mater, beloved old Southwestern,
Pride of our Southland so fair!
Oaks and pines and sweet magnolia's beauty,
Show forth thy charms so rare,
Alma mater, for honor, truth and wisdom
Thy halls for aye shall stand
Loyal sons and daughters sing
Proclaiming here's my heart and hand.*

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT KOLLURU TO NEW GRADUATES

Congratulations, members of the Class of 2026!

Today marks a defining moment in your life and in the life of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. You join a proud tradition that has endured since the University's beginnings as a small technical school — an institution that grew through vision, resilience and a belief in what education can make possible. Each of you now becomes part of that story through your own hard work, curiosity and determination.

As you look back on your time here, I hope you recognize how much you've learned and how much you've grown. You pursued ideas, solved problems, collaborated with others and discovered the power of your own potential. Those experiences have prepared you not only for your careers but for the responsibilities and opportunities that come with contributing to a rapidly changing world.

Your success reflects the support of faculty, staff, family and friends who guided, encouraged and challenged you along the way. I thank them for the role they played in helping you reach this milestone, and I hope you will take a moment to thank them, too.

As you move from student to graduate, remember that your connection to your alma mater continues. You join a global network of alumni whose achievements reflect the University's values, vision and spirit. Stay engaged, stay connected and help strengthen the community that helped shape you.

Wherever your path leads, carry with you the curiosity, resilience and sense of purpose you developed here. Use what you've learned to improve lives, drive innovation and lead with integrity. And when you do, you will make all of us proud.

Congratulations, and Geaux Cajuns!

Dr. Ramesh Kolluru
President

Dr. Ramesh Kolluru is the seventh president of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

He arrived at UL Lafayette in 1992 as a graduate student and earned both his master's and doctoral degrees in computer science from the University. Before being named president, he served as vice president for Research, Innovation and Economic Development. In that role, he helped lead the University's rise to Carnegie R1 status, strengthened its reputation as a national research leader and oversaw the creation of three national research centers.

Dr. Kolluru's work in innovation and public-private partnerships spans health care, cybersecurity, biotech and energy. He has advised multiple Louisiana governors on technology and innovation initiatives and previously served as chief innovation officer for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

His wife, Padma, is also a UL Lafayette graduate. The couple has twins, Roma and Paresh.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Louisiana Welcome Wall

Welcome, Family and Friends

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette welcomes you, the families and friends of our distinguished graduates. UL Lafayette isn't just a university — it's a community, and your support has helped shape each graduate's journey. Since its founding in 1898, the University has been dedicated to improving the lives of its students, and more than 3,000 students earn degrees each academic year.

Walk of Honor

As we honor their accomplishments and the beginning of a new chapter, we also invite you to explore a cherished campus tradition. Visitors enjoy finding graduates' names on the Walk of Honor, a pathway paved with bricks engraved with graduates' names and arranged alphabetically by year. The bricks begin near Martin Hall with the Class of 1903, extend through the Quad, line Boucher Street and continue along McKinley Street and around the Student Union.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Founded on July 14, 1898, the University of Louisiana at Lafayette is one of the nation's leading public research universities. As Louisiana's second-largest university and the largest institution in the University of Louisiana System, UL Lafayette combines academic excellence, groundbreaking research, vibrant campus life and a deep commitment to serving the state and its communities.

The University is classified as an R1 institution by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Fewer than 5% of U.S. colleges and universities have earned this distinction, reflecting UL Lafayette's leadership in research, innovation and graduate education.

UL Lafayette is nationally recognized for student success and offers an education that prepares graduates to lead in a rapidly changing world. Community engagement is central to the University's mission, with students contributing thousands of hours of service each year through coursework and volunteerism.

The University is also internationally recognized for preserving and advancing Louisiana's rich cultural heritage through the Center for Louisiana Studies, Francophone studies, traditional music and other academic programs that celebrate the state's unique history and culture.

UL Lafayette is home to one of the nation's most recognizable athletic identities. The Louisiana Ragin' Cajuns compete in the Sun Belt Conference and sponsor 16 NCAA Division I programs, the highest level of collegiate athletics.

The University's impact is substantial and extends far beyond its campus. An independent economic impact study found that UL Lafayette generates $4.4 billion annually for Louisiana's economy.

University Seal

The University seal was adopted on May 11, 1926, when UL Lafayette was known as Southwestern Louisiana Institute. It was designed by Dr. Edwin Stephens, the University's first president, with Ellsworth Woodward of Newcomb College and John McBryde of Tulane University. Its symbols reflect Louisiana's French and Spanish heritage: three fleurs-de-lis represent France, the castle denotes Spain and the pelican symbolizes Louisiana. Oak leaves signify strength and endurance. The seal features the Latin motto "Fortier, Feliciter, Fideliter," meaning "bravely, happily, faithfully." After it became the University of Louisiana at Lafayette in 1999, the seal was updated to include the gold star of Acadian culture and the red, gold and green stripes representing West African heritage.

Fleur-de-lis

UL Lafayette's fleur-de-lis is a federally registered symbol. Historically associated with the French monarchy and used in various political and religious contexts, the fleur-de-lis has been part of the University's identity since 1926, when three fleurs-de-lis were incorporated into its seal.

University Ring

UL Lafayette's ring symbolizes the lasting bond between graduates and their alma mater. Its red stone reflects the University's primary color, vermilion, and features the fleur-de-lis. The design includes images tied to campus life, such as cypress and oak trees, the University seal and Martin Hall, the main administrative building. Inside each ring is the inscription "heart and hand," the final three words of the University's alma mater.

UL LAFAYETTE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

UNIVERSITY of
LOUISIANA
L A F A Y E T T E

Alumni Association

Welcome to the Family

Congratulations, Class of 2026!

Today, you join a community of more than 130,000 alumni around the world — a family of Ragin' Cajuns united by the experiences, friendships and traditions that began right here at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. Whether your next step takes you across town or across the globe, you'll always have a home here.

Your journey as a student may be ending, but your connection to the University is just beginning. As UL Lafayette continues to grow in national recognition, research excellence, and student success, your degree carries the strength of an institution on the rise. Together, our alumni generate $2.7 billion in added income for Louisiana's economy each year — an impact equivalent to hosting eight Super Bowls annually. Now, you help write the next chapter.

A Tradition That Continues

Just two years after the University's first graduating class crossed the stage, those 18 graduates established what would become today's Alumni Association. More than 125 years, that tradition continues with you.

As a graduate, you are automatically a member of the Alumni Association. We are here to help you stay connected to your alma mater, celebrate your accomplishments and support you throughout every stage of your personal and professional journey.

Stay Connected

Graduation isn't the end of your relationship with the University — it's the beginning of a lifelong connection.

Attend campus events, cheer on the Louisiana Ragin' Cajuns, volunteer, mentor students or connect with fellow alumni through clubs and chapters across the country.

Follow the Alumni Association on social media for University news, alumni stories, events, networking opportunities, and ways to stay involved. Be sure to keep your contact information up to date so we can celebrate your milestones and keep you connected to the Ragin' Cajuns community.

Invest in the Future

When you're ready, we invite you to support the Alumni Loyalty Fund. Your gift helps strengthen student programs, alumni initiatives and academic opportunities that benefit future generations of Ragin' Cajuns.

Thank you for everything you've already contributed to the University through your hard work, determination and spirit. Wherever your path leads next, know that you'll always have a home here.

Welcome to the family.
