

The Start

- I was super nervous from the start.
 - Move in, buy clothes, homework, etc.
- 3 days in, and my best friend dropped out.
 - It really tripped me up (the next couple of nights (extra nervous, being left alone, etc.))
- Thankfully, I had other friends from high school here with me. Hanging out with them helped to ease my nerves + we had a lot of fun the first week of the semester.

Classes

- Once again, super nervous, but also really excited.
 - The first day was nice though, all of my teachers were super nice + welcoming.
- I actually enjoy all of my classes + I wouldn't say there are any 7-levels.
 - I've actually become close with my art professors.

Hobbies

- As an artist, I have a lot of hobbies outside of class.
 - drawing, reading, writing, crafts, etc.
- Going into college, I was hoping to expand my hobbies + develop them more. Especially because I wouldn't be confined to school for 8 hours.
- However, I find that I haven't been able to spend a lot of time on my hobbies as I'd like. It's hard to find time to be in my 'room' for hours on end.
- Thankfully, I have found outlets to explore my hobbies.

MY First SEMESTER

Clubs

- Print Club
 - Was super intimidating at first.
 - Everyone was super nice + welcoming since we were the only freshmen to join.
 - Major event for the club was the t-shirt sale.
 - Everyone made + submitted designs to be in the sale.
 - 3 of my designs made it.
 - Sale was very rewarding + successful.
- Animation Station
 - While not official, Animation Station has been a lot of fun so far.
 - It's made of a collection of people who share the same interests.
 - Have met some cool people + it's just a nice reminder after my chibi class.

Reflection

- First semester went a lot smoother than I had imagined.
 - I adapted pretty quickly + developed my own routine.
 - I came out of my shell a lot more than I thought I would.
 - I'm already super involved.
 - I've caught the eye of a few of my teachers.

Goals

For next semester

- Overall, I'm still deciding what my major goals are for college.
- Next semester I want to:
 - * Focus more on my personal hobbies + work towards my next personal project.
 - * Become more involved in my major both in and outside of class.
 - * Meet new people + get to know them. I've already met.
